

HUMANITARIAN AID – 2009

Continuing our proud tradition that began in 1993, Help the Afghan Children delivered critical humanitarian aid in the form of medicines, medical equipment, and medical supplies to hospitals and health clinics in four provinces that directly benefited 42,500 Afghan children and their families.

Working with our international shipping partner, AmeriCares, HTAC received three shipments of aid in January, April, and June. Working with our in-country partner, Afghan Health and Development Services (AHDS), HTAC was able to target and distribute this aid to hospitals and clinics in Kabul, Laghman, Ghanzi, and Urozgan Provinces, some of which operate in vastly underserved areas of the country.

Delivering this aid is continuing to make a difference in helping physicians and other Afghan health professionals better treat their patients, treat serious illnesses, and prevent life threatening diseases.
